To whom it may concern:

The STEM Academy, Inc., known popularly as STEM 101, has designed a custom STEM curriculum through extensive research and testing that embeds employability and technical skills into unique experiences for students. The customized management system ensures that the content is organized and that the certifications earned can be distributed. STEM 101 unique hands-on units are designed with partner businesses with included micro-credential certifications.

The STEM 101 System including the items listed above is unique and proprietary to STEM 101 and therefore qualifies for sole source distinction.

Sincerely,
